TikiLIVE OTT Selected as TV App on Prelauncher for Over Three Million Smart TVs

Smart TV Brands to Include Philips, BenQ, Konka, Sohu, and Haier

MARATHON, FL (MAY 16 , 2016) – TikiLIVE, an industry leader in over-the-top (OTT) content, will now be pre-loaded onto more than three million new smart television units, including many high-profile manufacturers. This new development is further proof that the rest of the tech world is taking note of the company's innovative ways.

“We are extremely pleased that our latest release has allowed for this fortune expansion,” said Tim Green, CIO of TikiLIVE. “We are excited that our company's content-rich and internet-friendly application will be readily available to three million more users. It is an incredible honor and a win for everyone involved.” The Florida-based company specializes in providing internet protocol television and mobile integration services.

TikiLIVE also provides a specialized ad replacement module which facilitates the placement of ads directly from their cloud server onto devices such as smartphones, tablets, smart TVs, desktop units, and set top boxes. They also provide tests to notify the end viewing user of Internet speeds.

TikiLIVE improves customer service by monitoring the World Wide Web to determine if there are connectivity or other issues that may interfere with streaming services. In addition, the company white-labels set top boxes, custom-branding the devices and allowing for their customers to stay out in front of their audiences if they like, eliminating the middle man along the way.

They are an official Dish Network private cable operator as well, meaning are able to offer the complete premium lineup of channels to residential, commercial, and educational facilities, as well as government facilities throughout the continental U.S.
